Attention: Mr. Daniel Zinman

Dear Daniel:

Virginia Beach, VA 23452

I want to share some of the very positive experiences our company has had using BuildSoft. We have also used Master Builder and feel that BuildSoft is a much better system for residential homebuilders.

In a few points below, please allow me to illustrate the vital differences BuildSoft offers:

- Recording sale recognition is a simple one-step process as opposed to three separate steps with MasterBuilder;
- BuildSoft has seamless integration of cost codes to the general ledger, without having to duplicate processes. By contrast, MasterBuilder's segregated databases can result in invoices being posted into the wrong accounts. For example, if we posted an invoice to Job #10, when going into cost codes, it might land up in Job #100. These types of issues have led to hours of wasted time attempting to correct the accounts in MasterBuilder;
- Closing a job in BuildSoft is as simple as clicking a button. On the other hand, MasterBuilder requires the user to physically transpose information into the accounting system;
- Posting Invoices in BuildSoft is far simpler because PO information is automatically recalled at time of entry, eliminating mistakes or overpayment;

These are just a few of the advantages we have seen relative to MasterBuilder. Overall BuildSoft is a far more intuitive and automated system which I would recommend to any builder.

Sincerely,
